Enthusiasm and energy are often associated with youth, but Christoph Hess manages to combine his infectious energy with vast wisdom and knowledge built up over years of experience. Hess is actively involved in the education of judges and instructors both within Germany and around the world. He conducts clinics, workshops, forums, and symposiums for judges, trainers, and riders throughout the international dressage and eventing communities. Christoph is an FEI 'I' judge in both dressage and eventing. He has judged at many important Eventing competitions worldwide at all Star levels, as well as at European and World Championships and Olympic Games. Currently the Head of Instruction at the DOKR, (the German National Federation), Christoph takes every opportunity to promote a horse orientated system of training and emphasises that we should work with the horse.
